CRISIS

Expected by Both Sides in New York Street Car Strike

STRIKES MAY FOLLOW

Moral Support of Other Unions is Promised and Coal Handlers Are Ordered Not to Transport Coal to Traction People—Strikers Are Offered Old Jobs

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Sept. 9.—Both sides in the street railway strike expected a crisis today when the traction company tried to re-establish normal service on its surface lines through the use of strike-breakers. The strikers have been notified that by renouncing allegiance to the union they may get their jobs back up to 1 o'clock this afternoon. After that the company reserves the right to use strikebreakers to fill the places of employes whose desertion has reduced the number of "green line" surface cars in operation by about 80 per cent.

The New York Railways company, which operates the surface lines crippled by the strike again withdrew all its cars last night, but when the cars were sent out again this morning announced that hereafter a regular 24-hour schedule would be maintained.

The striking car men were encouraged today by the promise of moral and financial support from the Central Federated Union, representing a half million trade unionists in New York City. It is announced that plans, still indefinite have been made to call strikers in other branches of labor to support the traction men on the ground that their fight involves the main principles of organized labor and their defeat would mean the beginning of a move to break down labor unionism throughout the country through the medium of the individual contract.

John P. Riley, president of the district council of the International Longshoremen's association, said today he had instructed the 1,800 members of the Tidewater Boatmen's union not to handle barges laden with coal for the Interborough Rapid Transic company's power houses.

The order, Riley clamed, also affects coal passers employed by the Interborough, and will cripple, if not entirely stop the Interborough system, which includes the subways and elevated roads of Manhattan and the Bronx.

Union labor leaders of national and state prominence were called into New York's transit situation today wit hthe announcement by local strike organizations that within 24 hours a conference would be held here, the outcome of which might be a 24-hour tie-up of all the city's industries employing men affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. A telegram was sent to Samuel Gompers, president of the latter organization, who is on a vacation in Maine, asking him to hurry here. The central federated union announced after an all night meeting that a committee had been empowered to call a general sympathetic strike in all trades if such action was considered necessary to help the employes of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the New York Railways Company to win their fight for annulment of the so called master and servant contracts binding the men not to ask wage increases for two years.

Police reports indicated that underground and elevated service was normal today and that the situation on the surface lines affected had considerably improved.

Union leaders claimed on the other hand that the surface roads were badly affected.

WOMEN

Elated Over Wilson's Address Before Suffrage Meeting

WILL WIN EVENTUALLY

Women Prepare to Wind Up Business of Annual Convention In Time to Adjourn Tonight—Resolutions to Be Adopted Will Declare Their Principles

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 9.—Delegates to the woman suffrage convention, apparently highly pleased with the address of President Wilson last night, today began their final session of the convention with the expectation of completing their work tonight. They were especially pleased with the President's statement that he had come to Atlantic City to "fight with somebody," which the suffragists freely interpreted to mean that he had enrolled himself in their cause. They were also elated at his declaration that the force behind them will be triumphant.

One of the important matters to come before the convention today is the report of the committee on resolutions which is expected to report a declaration of principles.

Among the speakers on the program for the night session are Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, Herbert Parsons, of New York, and Raymond Robins, of Chicago.

President Wilson spent the night at a hotel here and motored to his summer home at Long Branch, N. J. today.

Triumph for the woman suffrage cause "in a little while" was predicted by President Wilson here last night in a speech before the convention.

"I have come here to fight with you," the president declared. Immediately the 4,000 women present stood and cheered.

The president's pledge of support to the suffrage question caused Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the organization, to say in a speech soon after he closed: "You touched our hearts and won our fealty when you said you had come here to fight with us."

The president did not speak on the method by which he would bring about woman suffrage, but said "we shall not quarrel in the long run as to the method of it."

The women in their speeches also failed to mention the question of method.

Declaring that sometimes he became "a little impatient" over discussion about the channels through which votes for women are to come, the president caused the delegates to applaud by saying, "I have felt here the wholesome contagion of the occasion."

The meeting came to an end with the president and Mrs. Wilson standing between suffrage leaders joining in singing partiotic songs.

INVADE RUMANIA FOR FIFTY MILES DEFEAT RUSSIANS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Berlin, Sept. 9.—(By wireless to Sayville.)—Correspondents with the Bulgarian and German forces which are invading Rumania report that along the Black Sea coast an advance of 80 kilometres (about 50 miles) beyond the frontier already has been made. They express the opinion that the progress of the invaders, who have occupied several important positions on the coast and elsewhere in Dobrudja, explains the irresolution and comparative inactivity of the Rumanian forces which, having invaded Transylvania are now merely sending out small detachments to reconnoiter.

Not only Rumanians but Russians have been defeated by the Bulgarians in Dobrudja, the correspondents say and this destroys the legend that Bulgarians will not fight Russians.

MARSHALL

Suggest That Hughes Has Not Yet Struck His Gait

HASN'T FOUND BEARINGS

Declares Speeches of Republican Candidate Are Only Echoes of Words of G. O. P. Leaders In the Senate —Says Hughes is More to Be Pitied Than Censured —Review of Address

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Winchester, Ky., Sept. 9.—Republican criticism of the Wilson administration was reviewed by Vice President Marshall in a speech here today with the conclusions that the main reason offered the country for turning out the Democrats was the desire of the Republicans to get in, and and that former Justice Hughes' campaign speeches were but echoes of often heard partisan orations in the senate.

Not only the keen-eyed newspaperman but the every-day citizen," Mr. Marshall said, "is wondering what is the matter with the speeches of the leader in the verbal assault against the administration. Those most charitably inclined in their judgment towards others suggest that perhaps, he has not yet struck his gait. But, in this Blue Grass region, I need not remind you that a horse that doesn't strike his gait during the first quarter never finishes under the wire a winner.

"Just now, chief interest in the Republican candidate for president consists in ascertaining whether he belongs to the progressive face or the stand-pat neck of his part. The line of demarkation between the two wings of the party is clearly defined but he has not found his bearings.

"Manifestly, it is a difficult task to talk in tones sufficiently vague and uncertain to please both Roosevelt and Barnes, both Penrose and LaFollette. The candidate is really to be more commiserated than criticized. As to why he says what he does and in the way that he does, there is a reason. I'll explain. For three years and more, it has been my fortune or misfortune to hear the speeches made in the senate of the United States. The Republican candidate is now repeating these speeches in abreviated form from the stump. As his tour progressed, I commenced to recognize speeches I heard in the senate, but I detected a soft pedal tone, which was intended no doubt, for the ears of the progressive face of the party.

"When the candidate announced the infalibility of the protective tariff, I recognized the oft-expressed views of Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire. When he declared that we were dwelling in a 'fool's paradise,' I heard an echo of the voice of Reed Smoot, of Utah. When he talked about Mexico, I could shut my eyes and see before me the figure of Senator Fall. When he condemned 'pork' in connection with rivers and harbor bills, I tasted again in homeopathic doses the speeches, weary hours long of former Senator Burton, of Ohio, who was chairman of the committee on rivers and harbors for so many years that he well-knew about the 'pork' in the bills he had fathered. And, when the candidate assailed the civil service record of the administration, I realized that he had heard from that political purist Penrose, of Pennsylvania.

"But, in the speeches which have been so recognizable as repeating what had been heard in the United State senate, I have found nothing that ever fell from the lips of such senators as Cummins, Kenyon, Lafollette, Clapp, Norris or Gronna. The candidates inspiration springs from the speeches of Penrose, Gallinger, Smoot, Fall—senators of the stand-pat wing of the party.

"In deciding how he shall vote this year, the voter must decide whether he wants to turn all the important committees of the senate — the committees which control an administration and through which the administration must legislate—over to men, who were brought up in the Aldrich school of statesmanship and are wedded to its policies.

"Up to this time, reasons why Democrats should be put out of power are left to the imagination. The main reason seems to be that the Republicans just want control again. The country is satisfied with trade conditions and with business, which is unprecedently large; the people are satisfied with the record achievements, which includes more remedial legislation than ever was written by any two administrations; our opponents fail in their speeches and in their platform to promise anything in the way of repeal or substitutes.

"For purely partisan purposes, the Republican orators are proclaiming that the President is an Infirm American, and that Americanism and Republicanism are synonomous, thereby continuing the practice, abandoned by most men, of setting up artificial standards and criticizing everyone who does not accept them. But the people at large, realize now, more than ever before, that American citizenship is made up of only two grades of citizens. Citizens of the first grade asks 'What can I

STATEMENT BY THE LICKING CREAMERY CO.

Milk is used in some form by nearly everyone throughout life.

Science states that it is one of the most important of foods and also one of the most easily contaminated, and, therefore, must be carefully handled.

The Licking Creamery Company has for years been developing facilities for giving Newark a high grade supply of market milk.

A Field Department inspects the farms upon which our milk is produced. This costs money, but in conjunction with the hearty cooperation of the farmers, has secured us milk produced upon sanitary farms.

Additional care and equipment required upon the farms and the increased cost of cattle feeds have all added to the cost of production, in other words, raw milk of a proper character delivered at our plant, costs more than milk produced under the lax methods of former years.

The care of milk on the farm has already been touched upon. The need of correct handling in the factory is equally great. Certain processes have been developed by science to act as a safeguard. One of these is clarification, which is the process of taking from milk by centrifugal force a large part of the foreign matter which cannot be removed by straining in the ordinary way. This process makes milk much more palatable and adds to its wholesomeness.

Pasteurization is the great scientific safeguard against the spread of infectious or contagious disease. It is the process of heating milk and cream to make them keep longer and to destroy any disease germs which they may contain.

The Licking Creamery Company has installed these processes in its plant. Our bottles are also heated with live steam after washing, as a safeguard.

Our plant is open for inspection by the public on Thursday afternoon of each week. Ladies particularly are invited to call. Mrs. Eva Southwick takes active charge of all visitors upon these afternoons. WE WELCOME CALLERS.

A prompt and efficient delivery service is maintained throughout the city. This service is in charge of trained salesmen. We take pleasure in submitting to the general public, this statement, as a measure of our efforts toward a correct milk supply to the city of Newark.

During the past several years, this service has been maintained at a price to all retail consumers of 7c per quart of milk and 4c per pint. The changing conditions of the past two or three years in the commercial world, have resulted in a continual increase of costs, both in the production and distribution of milk. This company is no longer able to maintain its high standard of service at the old price, and believing that the public of Newark would prefer to have a high grade of milk at a fair price than an inferior one at a cheap price, we have decided to raise our prices.

On Saturday, Sept. 16th, our prices for milk will advance to 5c per pint and 9c per quart; one quart delivered in two pint bottles will cost 10c.

MOTHER ONLY 21 HAS LOST SIXTH CHILD BY DEATH

Misfortune continues to follow Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yaciri, a young Italian couple residing at 107 Jackson street. The husband is 25 years of age and the wife only 21. They are natives of Santa Crucia, Province of Abruzzo, Italy, and were married when mere children, both yet being in school. They are healthy young people, and yet a strange fatality has followed them.

Friday evening a child was born at the Yaciri home but lived only an hour, death coming about 8 o'clock. The child appeared to be perfectly normal in every respect, but in spite of every effort to save his life death came. The little one was buried in Mt. Calvary cemetery today.

This child was the sixth born to Mr. and Mrs. Yociri and all have died in infancy, the one living the longest, being only six weeks old at time of its death.

Soldiers' Widows Important Notice On Pension Law

President Wilson on Friday signed the Ashbrook Widows' Pension Bill, and it is now the law of the land. It benefits Civil and Mexican War widows only. Widows now on the pension roll or who may hereafter be placed thereon under the provisions of this bill who are now 70 years of age are entitled to $20 per month. It raises the marriage limitations 15 years or to June 27th, 1905, and restores to remarried widows their former pensionable status. Therefore if you married a soldier before June 27th, 1905, you are entitled to $12 if under 70 and $20 if over 70. I expect to remain in Washington some days to look after these claims. All beneficiaries should write to me at once for information and blanks, giving your husband's name, company and regiment. Pension agents and attorneys are prohibited from charging a fee for those who are now on the pension rolls, but may charge $10 for original claims. If you have an original claim and you employ an attorney don't send to Washington but go to your local attorney or pension agent. With the help of your congressman he can do better for you than a stranger. I am remaining here solely to help you and will be glad to have you promptly advise me if I can be of assistance to you.

Very respectfully,
WILLIAM A. ASHBROOK.

Devil Worship In Tibit.

The religion inculcated by Buddha had certain cardinal points—the encouragement of the ascetic life, the maintenance of virtue, the exhortation to persons of all castes and both sexes to aim at deliverance from the evils of existence and, lastly, the attainment of Nirvana.

But in Tibet Buddhism has been grafted on to the earlier devil worship of the people, and a religion has been evolved better expressed as Lamaism, or modified devil worship, so that in addition to the Buddhas and Bodisats there have also come to be tutelary and guardian deities of a terrifying and malignant aspect, whose duty it is to defend the faith and the faithful people from external attack. These deities are depicted in grotesque and terrible forms in all the monasteries, generally in violently colored fresco paintings at the entrance. — National Geographic Magazine.

The Title "Engineer."

It is unfortunate, according to the Engineering Record, that in America most people associate the word "engineer" with a man who runs an engine or a boiler. Even the man who operates the boilers of an apartment building is called an "engineer," although the name is entirely a misnomer when applied to him. He may be a good mechanic, but he is not an engineer. The gray haired man who drives the locomotive of a transcontinental limited and who holds the lives of hundreds of human beings in his care belongs to the very highest type of mechanic, but he is not an engineer, except in the United States and Canada. All foreign languages have words that properly designate the work these men are doing. In our country there is no word to distinguish them from the bridge builder, the sanitary expert, etc.

GUN CLUB TO HAVE TOURNEY HERE SEPT. 21

The Newark Gun Club has announced the program for the registered tournament and Topperwein exhibition to be held at Wehrle ball park, September 21.

Prominent trap shooters from all parts of the state will be entered in the shoot to the number of 75. Admission will be free. The club has a shoot every week and has a membership of about 20 local men.

One of the big features announced in connection with the shoot is the exhibitions to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Topperwein, the celebrated marksmen, who will give exhibitions in expert and fancy shooting. Mr. Topperwein is the acknowledged dean in fancy and trick shots, and his many feats are of a highly sensational character. Mrs. Topperwein has no equal among women for adeptness in shooting.

Ladies are especially urged to go and witness her astonishing skill with shotgun, rifle and pistol.

Adolph Topperwein, considered the greatest living fancy and flying target shot with a rifle, represents the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., and lives in San Antonio, Texas. He uses no special equipment, but ordinary Winchester rifles, shooting regular cartridges with solid ball.

He shoots at oranges, apples, bits of coal or brick, walnuts, small marbles, empty cartridge shells and many other tiny objects, which are thrown into the air and hit with either rifle or revolver.

In the most remarkable exhibition of rifle shooting ever given, Mr. Topperwein shot for ten days at 72,500 two and a quarter inch block thrown into the air by an assistant, missing only nine out of the entire lot. During the shooting he made straight runs of 11,540, 13,599, 13,219 and 10,283. He used two Winchester automatic rifles, Winchester cartridges and the loading was done by himself. Considering the almost incredible score and the tremendous strain of such incessant shooting, it is unlikely that a record will ever be beaten.

The Newark gun club expects this meet to be the best held in Central Ohio in recent years and preparations are being made to handle a large crowd from both Newark and other cities in the state.

MAYONE WINS RACE WHICH GOES FIVE HEATS AT CROTON

A record breaker crowd was in attendanceance at the Hartford fair yesterday, it being estimated that over 7000 people were on the grounds during the day. The fair this year has proven a success in every particular and the officials are highly pleased with the splendid patronage accorded it.

The races yesterday were interesting and exciting and kept the big crowd on tip-toe throughout the various heats. Ben B. Jones (Pop Geers) of this city, "brought home the bacon" with Mayona, his fast little bay mare who has been ahead of the money in every event in which she has started this year.

UNDERSEA

DISTURBANCE CAUSED DESTRUCTION OF WARSHIP MEMPHIS AT SANTO DOMINGO.

Huge Wave Lifter Big Cruiser and Deposited Her on Reef 200 Yards from Shore.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Sept. 9—Vivid descriptions of the marine phenomenon which caused the destruction of the United States armored cruiser Memphis with the loss of about forty of her crew in the harbor of Santo Domingo on August 29, were given today by witnesses of the disaster who arrived on the steamer Iroquois. The conjecture that the disaster was the result of an undersea eruption was strengthened by assertions that nothing resembling a gale accompanied the sudden disturbance.

The theory that the big seas which tossed the 20,000 ton warship on the rocks was caused by an undersea shock transmitted from a disturbance on the preceding day at Dominica, British West Indies, was advanced by Captain Theodore De Booy of the American Indian Heye foundation, an eye witness of the catastrophe. The theory, said Captain De Booy, is borne out by the fact that Dominica lies east, southeast of Santo Domingo and the seas threw the Memphis on a west-northwesterly ashore.

"The strange phenomena," he said, "was new to the experience of all who beheld it, including the natives of the island, accustomed as they are to outbursts of tropical storms. It had been blowing a hurricane from the southeast for two days but on the morning of August 29 the sea was calm and there was no wind. Then, the sea become suddenly turbulent. The roadstead became an angry mass of foaming waves in which no small craft could live.

"As the fury of the marine disturbance increased the Memphis was seen to be dragging her anchor and gradually being driven ashore. Finally a wave that seemed larger than any that had preceded it, lifted up the warship, held her on its summit for a moment and then dashed her down on a submerged reef within 200 yards of dry land. From the aft ventilators of the cruiser was pouring a cloud of steam. Immense waves were still breaking over her, some of them as high as the tops of her funnels, and the Memphis was shoved ashore until she was only 50 yards away. An improvised breaches buoy was put in operation and the men on the wrecked ship were brought ashore, some of them terribly burned from explosion of her boilers."

Y. M. C. A. Notes

George W. Darling, of Elmwood avenue came into the association this week to pay the balance on his subscription to the campaign fund. The officers were especially glad to meet this man. He is nearly 92 years old, the oldest man in Newark, yet he is vigorous and active. The association is proud to have as a contributing member the oldest man in Newark. Mr. Darling will always be welcomed at the association with the other boys.

A. B. Hampshire and his men have been at work painting the woodwork on the front of the building and decorating the interior of the corner store room. Tod Abbot with his plasterers have been doing some repairing also.

A fine new picture of the Ohio state boys' conference held last fall at London, Ohio, has been received and will be placed on the wall. It includes the pictures of Chas. Mayer, Woolson Davis, Donald Power, Chas. Allen and Prof. N. J. Dickerson, who attended with the boys.

A postal card from Wilson Galloway, former physical director here shows that the Dort Motor Car Co. is sending him into cities distant from Flint on business errands.

Miss Hazel Rutherford has been working at the association office for the past two weeks doing both stenographic and clerical work. Miss Rutherford graduated from Newark high last June in the commercial course.

Miss Martha Alis, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. met in conference with the Y. M. C. A. secretary on Wednesday and plans were outlined for a preliminary course in salesmanship and business effeciency. The plan is to have a series of lectures by prominent men of the city held one evening each week.

The membership committee met at the building on Friday and discussed further plans for the membership campaign. The following names were recommended for membership by the committee: Foster Wyant, Russell Pryor, Herbert Lynn and Prof. Paul R. Murphy.

A meeting was held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock with the high school boy members for the purpose of discussing the matter of special dressing privileges for those playing football and basket ball and engaged in almost daily practice. The association is glad to accommodate any class of membership, but it has a duty to protect all other classes as well.

The board of directors will meet in regular session next Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Every member should be present. Because of no meeting in August much business has been held over until this meeting. The full plans for the fall work and reports of committees will be read.

The junior class will now meet on Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. and Saturday at 9 a. m. There is some talk of organizing a junior foot ball team. Every boy interested should report Saturday morning at class period.

THE AUDITORIUM.

The photographing of "The Bugle Call," drama of the plains in which "Buster" Collier is starred, was finished with some terrific scenes of battle.

The making of the picture had been a boy's dream of delight for the youthful star. But the battle scenes were almost too realistic for him. He had no part in them, but he was on hand every minute and by the time he had seen half a dozen riders carried off to the hospital, he began to realize that making photo dramas is not all make-believe.

"It's all right except for the poor fellows that have to make falls from their horses," he said. "That's pretty tough, even when you've practiced it and know just how."

This wonderful feature with this youthful actor as the star will be seen at the Auditorium today only, together with Pathe Weekly No. 68. Mothers should send the kiddies to see this clever child actor.

An unusual story is unfolded in "Going Straight," the new Triangle play, starring Norman Talmadge, which is to be shown at the Auditorium theater Sunday only.

John Remington, a middle-aged, respectable business man, who is living quietly with his wife and children, one day chances to go down into the slums to negotiate the purchase of a warehouse for a client, and encounters Jimmie Briggs, a gangster. Briggs at once recognizes Remington as Higgins, his former partner in crime, and begins to blackmail him.

Five years before, in a thieves' hangout in San Francisco, Remington dominated a band of the most expert criminals in the state. Briggs was his right-hand man, and Grace, who now is his wife, was their accomplice in getting inside information about homes of their wealthy victims.

The above is only part of the story that is shown in "Going Straight" which is seen together with Billie Burke in "Gloria's Romance" at the Auditorium tomorrow only.

Musical comedy with a new twist and turn for variety, pretty girls in pretty costumes, new songs cleverly presented and wit and humor of the kind to which Ambark Ali owes much, will compose the entertainment at the Auditorium theater for one day next Monday, matinee at 2:15, when that wideknown comedian of the eccentric type leads the "Mischief Makers" a steady pace of fun. In everything this comic does he is not only different from the usual run of merry makers, but interesting, while his support, particularly Dolly Webb and Joe Freed maintain the efficiency and effectiveness set by himself.

Seats are now selling with a special ladies bargain matinee at which time all ladies who attend secure best seats at 25c.

Newark is fortunate in being able to see Neil O'Brien, the famous minstrel comedian. It is his first visit to this city, in fact it is one of his few visits to Ohio. His big metropolitan minstrels will appear at the Auditorium in this city on Tuesday evening, Sept. 12.

Neil O'Brien's minstrels were in Cleveland Labor Day and Archie Bell, the well known dramatic critic of the Leader had much to say of the star and his players, who are at the opera house all of this week. Below is a part of Mr. Bell's article:

"They're off. Neil O'Brien's minstrels opened the winter season at the opera house yesterday before an audience that filled seats that have been vacant on Labor Day for many seasons.

"Mr. O'Brien has frequently appeared in the opera house on Labor Day with other organizations, gradually making a big feature of himself by his ability to maintain minstrel traditions with a dash of individuality and personality that made him a star in the public mind before managers realized it, apparently. Then he saw his name at the head of his own organization.

"Mr. O'Brien has reached the pinnacle of local fame. He fills the place of Primrose, Dockstader and 'Honey Boy' Evans, two of whom have taken to other fields and one of whom died within the year.

"A personal opinion is that the O'Brien organization is one of the best that we have seen for several years. Many of the 'headline' acts of minstrelsy are missing, at least many of the familiar names; but like a good vaudeville bill, the program improves perhaps from this elimination. Every act on the bill is worth while, there are more new songs of real value than it has been the fortune of minstrels to get together for an opening in recent years."

Mme. Petrova in "The Eternal Question," will be seen at the Auditorium next Wednesday only, together with Billie Burke.

Coming to the Auditorium on September 29, "Step Lively," a comedy with music that has won great success this season and comes highly recommended by press and people. It has a plot that holds the interest throughout, and is besprinkled with popular songs, and is full of action. It is a lively show, and one that is a sure cure for the blues. Hal Johnson, protean actor, heads the cast, and he is surrounded by a most capable company of singers, instrumentalists and players.

THE ALHAMBRA.

Though Mary Pickford has won her greatest successes in pathetic and comic roles, her wonderfully versatile interpretation of Pippina in the Famous Players Film company's spectacular and thrilling story, "Poor Little Peppina," proves her to be equal to the most exacting of heroic parts. The story of this latest Paramount picture, which is the attraction at the Alhambra Sunday for the week, takes the little heroine from Italy to Sicily and thence to New York.

Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese star, who will be the attraction at the Alhambra on Monday and Tuesday in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "The Honorable Friend," is delighted with the story, not only for its value from a dramatic standpoint, but from the fact that it has three fights in it—one of them being between himself and some of his fellow countrymen fought entirely a la jiu jitsu. During the taking of these scenes, the air was filled with flying Nipponese and many of the tricks of this clever method of combat were displayed.

THE MAZDA.

The veterans of the civil war are the guests of the Mazda theater this afternoon during the showing of "According to the Code," a picture dealing with the life of a civil war veteran.

"A Woman's Fight," which comes to the Mazda Sunday and Monday deals with a girl who works in a factory and is discharged and blacklisted and after unsuccessful efforts to find employment she becomes a crook and is sent to prison from which she makes her escape.

She seeks society and after trying to relieve a minister of his watch she is nearly handed over to the police, but the minister helps her find the straight road and later he marries her. Later "Red" Palmer, her former pal, finds her and makes her pay silence money until her friends are gone, then she is compelled to steal her husband's diamond cross. It is missed and a detective is engaged and finally Red, after having been shot, confesses all.

PRAISE FOR NANCY BOYER.

O. L. Hall, the well known dramatic critic of the Chicago Daily Journal devotes nearly a column of space in his paper yesterday to a criticism of Nancy Boyer and her company in "The Little Lady from Lonesome Town." Miss Boyer and company have a two weeks' engagement at the National theater in Chicago, opening there last Sunday to a capacity business.

Mr. Hall among other things said: "Learning that the National theater had on exhibition a new actress and a new play I repaired thither last night to observe Nancy Boyer in her first Chicago experience. During the last few years Miss Boyer has been exploring the country in comedies and farces in which Billie Burke, Grace George and Marie Dore starred. She is unlike all these eminent women of the theater, but it is easily seen that in her remote field, practicing the wiles of the petite soubrette, she could hardly have found a more suitable line of parts than those habitually taken by Miss Burke, and those formerly acted by Miss George and Miss Dore.

"To one who has seen 'em all, the big and the little, and one who knows this one's act and that one's cue, this one's gurgle and that one's shriek, Miss Boyer is a refreshing petitioner for favor. She has much to recommend her—youth, a trim and healthy figure, features that are exceptionally attractive both in repose and in play, a distinctive personality, freedom from affectation, an unflagging spirit, a sane but luxurious sense of costume, and a boundless desire to please. Thus equipped she begs the donation of our blessing. Miss Boyer is certain to make her way. She is in every consideration, the most pleasing young player who has ventured into our purlieus with the drama in many seasons. Her name may mean little now, but in time it is sure to be one of the International circuit's strongest magnets."

MILLIONS OF POLES HAVE SUFFERED DEATH.

Out of a population of 34,000,000 Poles, about 20,000,000 remain alive, according to a letter from W. O. Gorski, honorary executive secretary of Polish war victims to the fund for starving children at 70 Fifth avenue, New York. He states that the fund has rescued a number of children from certain death, but that the latest authentic reports from Poland are that all children under seven years of age have ceased to exist, having died from hunger and disease.

Dr. Karl Liebknecht in his manifesto, recently issued in Berlin, says: "Poverty and misery, need and starvation are ruling in Poland, which resembles a vast cemetery. The entire world and much praised European civilization are falling into ruins through anarchy which has been let loose in that country by the world war."

A representative of an American relief fund told Paderewski recently of a trip from Warsaw to Pinsk, a distance of about 370 kilometers. "Along that highway alone," he said "I noticed the civilian garments and the cradles of over 400,000 human beings who, their villages burned by the retreating army, had been compelled to seek refuge further inland. They had dropped from starvation and exhaustion by the roadside, and as there had been no time to bury them, the birds and animals of prey had picked the bones."

The latest statistics from Poland reveal that up-to-date over 200 towns and more than 20,000 villages have been razed to the ground. Sixteen hundred churches have been destroyed. All cash contributions are transmitted to Switzerland and hence forwarded by special messenger to Poland, where they are distributed among the most needy.

ESTABLISHED IN 1820

Entered as Second Class Matter March 10, 1882, at the postoffice at Newark, Ohio, under the Act of March 4, 1879.

It is never a good plan to swap horses while crossing a stream of water.—Abraham Lincoln.

Rainbow Chasing.

The Republicans are attempting to build up bogus courage on false hopes.

A few days ago a Rhode Island newspaper of reactionary persuasion, the Providence Journal, insisted in a lengthy editorial that Mr. Hughes had a much more than fair chance to secure the electoral votes of Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina.

The absurdity of the prediction may not strike the country at large, but it will strongly impress itself upon the voters of those three states.

Each has a fixed and established Democratic majority, that nothing short of political revolution can change. Occasionally, on purely local issues, the two former states have shown anti-Democratic majorities. They were not Republican victories. Take Tennessee, for instance. On two occasions, in 1910 and 1912, a Republican was elected governor. This was not a triumph of Republicanism, but the result of a fusion between Democrats dissatisfied with state conditions and Republicans. In 1914, when the revolt had served its purpose, Democrats got together and elected their nominee for governor by the old time majority. In 1912, when a Republican won the governorship, Mr. Wilson's vote was away ahead of the combined vote of his two opponents for the presidency.

But a few weeks ago, these same newspapers were holding out the prospect of their candidate carrying Texas. It is even now tentatively on the program to have him make a few speeches along the southern border of that state. The only possible effect of such an itinerary will be the cooling of the atmosphere. He has no more chance to carry Texas than he has to carry Canada.

Claims such as the above rather discount all other assurances given one by the Republican managers and party organs.

Value of Health.

What profiteth a man that he gain the whole world yet lose his health?

Naturalists say that long ago the prehistoric waters were infested with a species of enormous shark which finaly became extinct by reason of the workings of its voracious appetite. Thus nature eliminates the over fed.

The desire for ease of life and plentiful diet is universal and is the great stimulus of man and animals alike. When man becomes greedy and takes more ease and food and drink than is his share, nature discards him.

In the race for power and place, for ease of circumstances and relief from the stimulus of hunger, the modern man is apt to forget that unless he is careful of his body he will soon be made to suffer for the infraction of nature's inexorable physical law. With the loss in body tone comes an equal loss in mental acuity and the brain which for a time was able to operate despite the complaints of an over fed, under exercised, self poisoned body, stops working.

Statisticians have discovered that the mortality rate of persons in the United States over 45 years of age is increasing. The strenuous life of today is not alone responsible for this. Lack of health giving exercise, superfluity of diet, lack of restoring sleep, over stimulation, the high pressure of the race for power, wealth and position, plus physical neglect, these bring early decay. The goal is reached, wealth is amassed, honor, position and power are just being grasped when the apple of accomplishment turns to the ashes of dissolution. The brilliant mind becomes clouded, the steady hand is no longer accurate, the eye which once gazed fearlessly on the whole world is dimmed and it is not long before the final breakup occurs. All of this was entirely preventable.

Other things being equal it is the man who leads the well-balanced life who lasts the longest, whose work to the end is uniformly the best, he who neither overworks nor overplays, neither overeats, overdrinks, nor oversleeps, he who maintains a standard of simple healthy diet in moderation, who offsets mental work with physical recreation, who is as honest with his own body as he is with his own business. When success comes to such an one his physical and mental condition is such that he can enjoy in peace of mind and contentment of body the fruits of his labors.

The regulations of United States public health service state: "It is the duty of officers to maintain their physical as well as their professional fitness. To this end they shall be allowed time for recreation and study whenever their official duties will permit." If the government regards it as essential that its sanitary experts shall be safeguarded in this way, is it not equally important to every citizen that he similarly maintain a high standard of physical integrity?

Speaking of Antarctic vicissitudes, Shackleton observes: "The rudder fell off and went out to sea;" which may throw light upon the plight of the Hughes-Fairbanks party, which has been lost since June on a cruise in search for a campaign issue.

President Wilson's Mexican policy is a dangerous thing for Republican orators to play with. There are a great many Republicans who endorse it as thoroughly as do Democrats.

Unable to discount the popularity of the progressive legislation enacted under a Democratic administration, Republicans are now endeavoring to claim credit for having originated it.

As a concession to Progressive sentiment, the Republicans of Delaware have renominated for the United States senate that grand old reactionary, Col. Henry du Pont.

Jim Was Ahead of Him.

"It's so strange," sighed the omnibus conductor, "how, when two boys start out with equal chances, one of them is bound to forge ahead. There was Jim. He and I were the best of friends in youth. But look at me now. Equal as our chances were, Jim is ahead."

"What is he doing?" asked the gentleman sitting near the door.

"He's the driver of this 'ere 'bus," came the answer. "Did I give ye yer ticket, please?"—London Answers.

Wilson Tide Rising.

(Springfield Republican.)

Thomas A. Edison's strong pronouncement in favor of the re-election of Mr. Wilson is a notable sign of the turning of the tide in the direction of the President. Mr. Edison has always been a Republican, but he favored Mr. Roosevelt's nomination by the Republican National Convention this year. In the ten weeks since the nomination of Mr. Hughes the Republican candidate has failed to win Mr. Edison's support, notwithstanding Mr. Edison's lifelong allegiance to the Republican party and notwithstanding Mr. Roosevelt's own indorsement of the Hughes candidacy.

Mr. Edison's reason for preferring Mr. Wilson as the next President pierce to the heart of the question and reveal the elementary truths which every citizen should face. Mr. Edison acknowledges like a generous man and a patriot that no President in his mature lifetime has had to meet such a succession of perplexing and staggering problems as Mr. Wilson has; yet, in no case, as Mr. Edison points out, has the President's decision involved the country in disaster.

Mr. Edison sees the essential truth of the railroad crisis of the past two weeks, the latest of the difficulties to beset the Chief Magistrate, and, like Henry Ford, he declares that he President has met it with his "usual courage and sanity."

Mr. Edison also believes that, in view of his extraordinary experience gained during a period of continuous storm, Mr. Wilson is by far the better fitted of the candidates to receive the mandate of the people, and bear the responsibilities of office in the next Presidential term. Mr. Edison in that opinion, must reflect the rapidly crystalizing views of a large number of voters who place country above party.

There is as little reason for branding Woodrow Wilson's Presidency as a failure, in this year of 1916, as there was for branding Abraham Lincoln's as a failure in the fall of 1864.

When Dickens Was "Trash."

(New York Sun.)

A book reviewer, telling of the useful work of John Cotton Dana, of the Newark Free Public Library, called attention to the list of authors, whose books were most frequently called for in the public libraries a dozen years ago. The list was headed by Marion Crawford, Rosa Noncherre Carey and Alexander Dumas.

An illuminating parallel is found in the first instalment of "A History of the New York Public Library," published in that Library's July bulletin. Joseph Green Cogswell, the New England school teacher who became the mentor of John Jacob Astor in the matter of libraries, was almost as curious as Mr. Dana to learn what the public was reading. The Astor library in Lafayette Place was opened January 9, 1852, with about 90,000 volumes and Cogswell watched the public with keen eye.

"Everything goes on very smoothly," he wrote to George Tickner after his library had been open six weeks. "The readers average from 100 to 200 daily, and they read excellent books, except the young fry, who employ all the hours they are out of school in reading the trashy, as Scott, Cooper, Dickens, Punch and The Illustrated News. Even this is better than spinning street yarns, and as long as they continue perfectly orderly and quiet, as they now are, I shall not object to their amusing themselves with poor books."

Poor books! Then what did a librarian of that day consider good books? Well, the books asked for at the Astor Library when its doors were first opened were Woodhouse's "Astronomy," Frontinus' "Asiatic Researches," "Abernathy on diseases of the stomach, Moore's poems, Cuvier's "Animal Kingdom," Goldsmith's works, and some others not quite so light. The "right thinking citizen" wanted to read something that would last.

The Eight-Hour Law.

(New York Commercial.)

This eight-hour law is a long step toward Government ownership and operation of railroads. Once that comes, the labor unions will find that every man is entitled to an equal chance to work. This will either destroy labor unionism in such service or the whole country will become subservient to a labor oligarchy. The Government would fix railroad wages just as it now fixes the pay of soldiers and postmen. In the end the railroad service might become part of the army, as it is in Germany. Labor has forced the government to intervene in this case. The precedent is now established and the Government will probably be a party to all succeeding wage disputes in the railroad service. The Government in power at he time will not be neutral, and Governments change. If this eight-hour law is upheld by the Supreme court the relations of railroad capital to railroad labor will never again be the same.

Spirit of the Press

Hughes and Wilson.

The contrast presented to the voters is succinctly stated by Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, when he says that "the people will not change the realities of Wilson for the prophecies of Hughes." Men who vote against the President will do so from pure spite; they have no assurance whatever, from anything that Mr. Hughes has said or done, that in the points where they are dissatisfied with the President, Mr. Hughes would give them any better satisfaction. A candidate might have joined issue with the President and won the election on that, but Mr. Hughes has not joined issues anywhere, or given any promise of what his course will be.—Philadelphia Record.

Roosevelt's Verbal Juggling.

It is mere verbal juggling to say that the United States has been "at war" with Mexico. In President McKinley's Administration the United States sent military forces to China and in co-operation with contingents from several European countries, they fought their way to Peking to release the foreign legation besieged by the Boxers. There was much killing of Chinese, and devastation of territory. It was a murderous business all around, and the European soldiers disgraced themselves by their plundering and looting of Chinese cities. But neither in Europe nor in this country was the Boxer expedition called a war. Our Government has never for a moment admitted that the United States was at war with China. Yet it was emphatically war, in the sense in which Mr. Roosevelt uses the word charging the Wilson Administration with waging war with Mexico on account of the Vera Cruz expedition and also the present Pershing expedition.—Springfield Republican.

Japan's Foreign Trade.

Beyond a doubt the seamen's law, which put American ships engaged in foreign trade out of business on the Pacific, has helped Japan in her ambition to centralize oriental control. The war, which put Germany out of business on the Pacific, has also helped the Japanese to push into new trade regions. Japan is building up an important trade with South Africa; it is in the nature of a trade both ways. Whic is to say an adequate raw wool supply is obtained from the region for the constantly expanding woolen mills of the mikado's realm, and at the same time Japanese weaves, both woolen and cotton, are being marketed in Africa.—Baltimore American.

Arbitration.

The principal of arbitration, to which both sides professed loyalty, has lost its prestige, and the ancient principle that might makes right has been enthroned once more. The demands of the men are conceded without investigation. The protests of the railway presidents and general managers are slighted and the ultimate interests of the public are ignored. Up to date no provision is made for the granting of higher freight rates, the freight rates that the public must pay. And yet the railroads are entitled to the increase, even without an investigation, if the men are entitled to a raise of pay without an investigation.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Gum Habit.

The chewing gum habit has cost the American people for chicle alone nearly $35,000,000 in the last 10 years, or almost five times as much as we paid Russia for Alaska, according to figures furnished by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce.—Springfield Republican.

Lodges

L. O. T. M.

White Carnation Review, No. 68, L. O. T. M. met Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance. Officers were elected for the ensuing year. At the close of the meeting the charter was draped in honor of the late Mrs. Hannah Priest, a member of the order. It was decided to hold the next meeting of the Sewing Circle at the home of Mrs. Sturman, 96 Leroy street, Thursday afternoon.

K. OF P.
Roland Lodge.

The Knight rank was conferred for the first time this term at the meeting of Roland Lodge on Tuesday evening. Four Esquires were given the higher degree in approved form. A number of the local brethren were out, also several visitors, including a delegation of four brothers from Fredericktown, who came down in an automobile. They were chaperoned by our Brother H. W. McKown, who at present is located there. They enjoyed the work. Further plans were discussed for the trip to Newcomerstown on Thursday, Sept. 14, to attend the dedication of the new castle hall there. The uniform Rank boys are going and all others who possibly can are urged to take this day off and poin in the festivities. Take the 8:30 a. m. Pennsylvania train. The Uniform Rank boys and a few other Knights attended the service at the East Main St. U. B church Wednesday evening to hear Lieutenant Governor Arnold. Supreme Representative Ellis of Dayton dropped into the club rooms for a short time Wednesday evening. He was enroute to Zanesville.

Chancellor Commander Trickey has been unable to look after his official duties for the past couple of weeks on account of a severe cold which has affected his vocal chords. Vice Chancellor Pratt has been taking care of the various matters in first-class manner. The Page rank is announced for next Tuesday evening.

Newark Lodge.

Newark Lodge, No. 13, met last Thursday evening with a good attendance. The regular routine of business was light.

The lodge has quite a number on the sick list but the relief committee reports that they are improving.

One of the main subjects discussed at this meeting was an invitation to attend the dedication of the new temple at Newcomerstown on Thursday, Sept. 14, and there was a committee appointed to arrange for a crowd to go to this dedication. The Uniform Rank will go in a body and they ought to have a good sized crowd to go with them. Newark lodge will compete for one of the prizes offered to be given for the tallest Knight in line.

Next Thursday the Knight rank will be conferred on a class of Esquires, and the refreshment committee promises something on for this occasion.

Pythian Sisters.

Alberta Temple, No. 355, of Pythian Sisters, met Wednesday evening, with an attendance of 75 members and two visitors. Four candidates were initiated by the new officers, and they were highly complimented for their splendid work. After close of session refreshments were served.

I. O. O. F.
OLIVE BRANCH.

Tuesday evening Olive Branch Lodge, No. 34, met and transacted only routine business. Next Tuesday night the first degree will be conferred on two candidates.

B. A. Y.

Newark, Homestead No. 3278, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, has changed the time and place of meeting. The order meets the second and fourth Tuesday of each month in Red Men's Hall, Third street. We hain't saw any sharks yet but we've only been here such a short time that we hain't give up hope a tall.

A writer in the London Saturday Review is concerned about what the war is likely to do to the mother tongue. He sees a menace in the war slang and in vagaries of pronunciation. He says "Moreover, a case can always be established for pronouncing a placename according to the taste and fancy of the individual. Archaeologists (who will say anything) claim that 'Ypres' was pronounced 'Wipers' in the Hundred Years' War, which, if it proves anything, proves the assertion of the lady in Punch that the French do not understand their own language. As for Przemysl, no one can pronounce it, and there is considerable doubt whether anyone wishes to."

Not that it matters much, but when he finds time we wish that Chicago University professor who says music can be tasted would tell us whether ragtime tastes like cotton or wool.—Springfield Union.

It would probably depend upon the financial rating of the composer.—it might even taste like silk. But now we think of it, wouldn't an old Polonaise make lovely rag?

Did You Know

That the Gaelic prefix, occurring in Celtic names, "Mac" or "Mc" means "son"? It is probably allied to the Gothic "magus", a son, a boy, the feminine of which is "magaths". The root is probably the Sanscrit "mah", to grow. The Welsh form of "Mac" is "Map", shortened into "Ap", as Ap Richard.

Limerick Contest.

Although this maid her preference refused to vindicate,
You've evidently read the lady's mind,
at any rate:
The answers all came fluttering in as thick as anything.

The reason surely is divulged why she should like the spring.
We've read these limericks o'er and o'er and after that again,
At last we chose the one below to which to give the yen:

She said "I prefer spring to fall
And I do not like winter at all;
For a pretty girl's chances
Warm summer enhances
And 'tis then she had best make a haul."
—J. F. Buell, 267 North Eleventh street.

A goodly lot of answers came, close seconds, too, and so
That you may all enjoy them we are printing them below:

She said "I prefer spring to fall"
And so does her lover, named Paul;
She is wearing his ring,
They will wed in the spring,
And so there's a reason—that's all.
—E. Hull.

She said, "I prefer spring to fall."
He answered, "Spring's quite apt to pall.
The best part of the year
We have with us right here.
With a 'September Morn' for us all."
—Stella Bell, Queens, L. I.

She said "I prefer spring to fall,
Because, should a young man then call,
He's more apt to propose,
As ev'ryone knows,
As he bids me goodnight in the hall."
—R. M., Evanston, Ills.

She said—"I prefer spring to fall"
She wouldn't have stirred up our gall,
And we could rhyme neater,
In happier meter,
If she'd said something else, that's all.
—S. J. M.

She said "I prefer spring to fall
'Tis the season girls like best of all;
When the boys, like the buds,
Don their brightest glad duds
And proposals come thick when they call.
—A. J. M., Mt. Vernon.

She said "I prefer spring to fall
Though summer I like best of all;
For I spin in a flivver
To the dam in the river
And hear the lake's irresistible call."
—M. E. Fitzgibbon.

She said "I prefer spring to fall
When the roses bloom sweet by the wall;
I sit there and dream,
Of my sweetheart I mean,
At the front at his great country's call."
—Mrs. Maude Magill.

She said, "I prefer spring to fall,"
For autumn she cared not at all;
Fresh springtime and love,
Twin gifts from above,
Were able her heart to enthrall.
—H. C. E., Granville.

She said, "I prefer spring to fall,"
No wonder. Just hear the school call;
But why be a shirk?
Just buckle to work.
Ere you know it your troubles are small.
—J. J., Ft.

She said, "I prefer spring to fall."
The reason? She gave none at all;
But the spring is her joy
That hashs alloy,
The autumn's her annual bawl.
—D. H. C., Granville.

She said, "I prefer spring to fall,"
But listen, as that is not all;
Her dearest friend, Paul,
Now grown very tall;
Is short-stop on a team of base ball.
—J. J. Nieman.

We're sure that many of you love to plant and hoe and dig
And feel that we should like to know if your success was big;
So tell us in a limerick that commences with this line,
And write it out and then, please don't forget your name to sign;
Then send it to the Melting Pot, care Advocate, before
Next Friday night at six o'clock; we find it quite a chore
Among so many that are good, the very best to seek,
For which the Advocate disburses one round plunk each week:

I planted a garden last year

Mlady's Boudoir

Advice to the Debutants.

The modern young girl of these days is a very strenuous person. Little debutantes in society are perhaps victims of late hours, indigestible foods and insufficient warm clothing in the chill night air, more than the average girl.

But girls in any state of life should not fail to regard their health. Too often it happens that the debutante is not wise in this respect.

Late hours, refreshments at all hours, a great amount of nervous excitement all do their work and some fine day our young lady awakes with a horrid start to the knowledge that her good complexion has vanished, and she is left with a skin dotted with blackheads, punctured here and there with small pimples, a generally sallow or pale appearance, lines around and under the eyes.

What an outcry is there, my countrymen! And straightway heroic measures are resorted to, to atone for past thoughtlessness and neglect.

The fact of the matter is such a loss need not have occurred. A little intelligence, a little forethought and that incomparable freshness which cannot be bought in any box, hailing from Paris or any other place could have retained and the girl possessed of such wisdom would have stood out among her less fortunate friends as the newly opened flower does among those about ready to fall from the stalk. Who would not achieve such a result, if it is within one's power to do so.

Simple enough are the rules whereby this can be done. Loss of sleep—this is the traitor which so often depresses vitality and the next thing a cold is caught with all of its accompanying discomforts.

School Entertainment Course.

There will be eight members on this season's High School entertainment course starting October 13, the Oxford company, James A. Burns, Cord-Rummel Recital company, Dr. S. Parks Cadman, Sidney Landon, Zedeler Symphonic Sextette, Dr. Russell H. Conwell, Gay Zenola MacLaren.

When the married man meets an old flame, he shouldn't be a moth. At any rate, the straight and narrow path should never be closed for repairs.

For Inactive Liver and Clogged System

A safe treatment should be used. A violent liver stimulant and a severe cathartic may afford temporary relief, but they weaken as well, and the reaction leaves the sufferer worse than before.

MANALIN

is prepared on different principles: It is mild, and induces a natural action of liver and bowels. It is safe, because it is free from any drastic purgatives. It is effective because it combines the principles of a liver arouser and a laxative. And it is pleasant to take.

THE TABLET FORM

is convenient, pleasing, effective and economical. Proper use will nearly always correct thirty habits and bring back a natural condition.

The sufferer who fails to obtain proper results may write to the Medical Department of this Company, and get medical advice free of all charge.

Start correcting your habits today—Manalin will help you.

THOMPSON SENDS PRIZE FISH STORY FROM FAR OFF FLA.

John W. Thompson, formerly with the Newark Trust company, who left with his family last week to establish a home at Melbourne, on the east coast of Florida, sends back to Newark the following story, with the statement that an affidavit testifying to its truth will be furnished upon application:

Mr. Thompson's lot at Melbourne is within a few feet of the Indian river. Ernest Settles, the Newark contractor, is now engaged in building the Thompson home. The other day a huge bird, probably a hawk, was seen flying over the river and suddenly he pounced down and grabbed a big fish from the river. In flying away with his prize, the bird, through fright or slip, dropped the fish which landed in the yard adjoining the Thompson place and the owner had it baked for dinner. However not all of the fishing is done that way in Florida.

"Should I go ahead of an older woman when entering the room?" inquired Jessie.

HEBREWS

WILL BE SAVED ONLY AS OTHER MEN ARE WHO CONFORM TO GOD'S WILL.

Evangelist Weaver Discusses Lives of Esau and Jacobb in Relation to Biblical Promises to Jews.

"The peculiar idea which is held by many today that sometime in the future all the Jews will return to the Holy Land and rebuild Jerusalem and become Christians, and that God is going to make that people, as a race, the special beneficiaries of His favor above other people, is an utter misconception of the whole scope of scripture teaching with reference to God's plans and purposes, and is a last day deception of the devil calculated to mislead and deceive," declared Evangelist H. A. Weaver last night in his address at the big tent on the subject, "How soon will the Jews return to Jerusalem?"

"God is no respecter of persons," he continued, "and never has shown favor to a Jew above a Gentile, even though for several centuries he endured their rebellion against His plans, simply because He had promised through Abraham, Isaac and Jacob that through their seed the Messiah shouldcome. God is a respecter of good motives and right desires and wholesome character, however, and has dealt with every Jew precisely on the same basis upon which he deals with every Christian today. He conceded no virtue to a Jew because of his clear title to ancestral blood. Neither does He today concede virtue to the man who can show proof for his 'good standing' in the church and make a profession that he is a Christian.

"The name Israel had its origin this way: God had called Abraham out from a sinful generation, because of Abraham's fidelity to right principles while surrounded by all manner of evil influences and conditions, and named him as the father of a family whom the Christ would be born. He made certain definite promises to Abraham, and, in order to preserve the distinctive characteristics of the family line, He gave him the outward rite of circumcision. This rite was to be henceforth performed upon every male descendant, and the first born was charged with the responsibility of preserving the original faith of Abraham, and was also accorded the honor and joy of salvation through the coming Redeemer.

"The promises were renewed to Isaac, Abraham's first born. Isaac had two sons, Esau and Jacob. They were twins, and Esau was technically the first born. The birthright therefore went to Esau. But as the boys grew to manhood it developed that Esau's life was far from being in harmony with the purposes of God concerning the man who was to bear such great responsibility in His cause. His heart was set, not upon the blessings and privileges embraced in the Messiah to come, but upon his own selfish interests. Esau was distinctly a man of this world. Salvation through the Christ was counted as nothing to him. He 'despised the birthright.' He held it very cheaply indeed.

"But in the case of Jacob it was different. His character, his desires, his motives were different. He longed for the salvation through Christ, which the birthright was calculated to secure, if conformed to according to God's requirements, and for which his brother cared nothing. As he grew older he resolved to secure for himself the rights which Esau was trampling under foot. But, while his zeal for the things of God was justifiable and his motives in hoping to preserve the interests of God's truth, which his brother was prostituting, were above reproach, yet he permitted himself, aided by his faithful mother, who also acted too hastily, to practice deception upon Esau in persuading Esau to transfer the birthright to himself. In this he did wrong, and in this he betrayed his own natural character, after the flesh, which his name suggested. His name, Jacob, meant literally, 'Supplanter.'

"His sin resulted in great hardship for him and his mother. He had to flee from home, never to see her again. Years passed by and Jacob, having now become the father of a great household, set out to return to his home. His brother Esau went to meet him with an army, intending to destroy him. The situation for Jacob was desperate. He had long repented of his evil deed, but now others must suffer because of it. He therefore set his household on one side of the river one night and went himself to the other side and spent the night in supplication to God. Near daybreak the powerful hand of Christ, the 'angel of the covenant' was laid upon him. Jacob thought it was an enemy. As he struggled to free himself, the Lord revealed himself to Jacob. Then Jacob clung to Him for complete victory. The Saviour asked him the simple question, 'What is thy name?' The answer was, 'Jacob.' And in an instant Jacob's life passed before him like a panorama. He was then and there converted from a life of works to a life of faith in God. The Saviour then said to him, 'Thy name shall be called no more Jacob, but Israel (a prince of God), for as a prince hast thou power with God and with men, and hast prevailed.'

"Thus originated the name Israel. Whether Jew or Gentile, all may be saved who will come to see themselves as Jacob saw himself,—lost, helpless, sinful by nature, and utterly unable to save himself. It becomes very plain, therefore, that when the scripture of truth says that 'all Israel shall be saved' (Rom. 11: 26), it does not mean that all the Jews shall be saved, but all men, Jews, Gentiles, Russian, Chinese, American, African and all, who will conform to God's way of salvation and not simply depend upon outward forms, creeds and man-made methods."

There will be no meeting at the tent Saturday night. Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Evangelist Weaver will speak on "The Infallibility of the Holy Bible." Sunday night at 7:30 Evangelist W. W. Miller, formerly of India, will speak on "The Glorious Second Coming of Jesus Christ."

Readers' Viewpoint

Example for Newark.

Editor of the Advocate.

This summer in our neighboring city of Zanesville was inaugurated what is known as the West Side Community Association. On the vacant space between the Garfield school and the Abbington avenue fire station, a platform was erected and rough seats constructed for 1,000 people, the work being done by the three firemen at the station. Seven entertainments have already ben given by local talent, the total attendance being about 12,000 people. No collections are taken. No candidates are allowed on the platform and it is essentially a community enterprise. The total expenses have thus far amounted to only $67.45, all talent being freely and cheerfully donated. The writer had the privilege of attending the entertainment last night, given in the open air, and attended by perhaps 2,000 people. The program was first class in every way, and perfect order prevailed. As an example of community getting together the enterprise is unique and great things are looked for next year. It is surely an example which could be profitably followed by our own community. Nothing could do more toward making our community a better place in which to live. H. S.

GOOD NEWS for STUTTERERS

Speech Troubles Now Ended By a Simple Method Discovered by a Farmer's Son

AFTER stuttering and stammering for twenty years, Benj. N. Bogue, son of an Indiana farmer, discovered and perfected a simple method by which he quickly cured himself. His speech troubles ended and he never stammered or stuttered again. One of those who knew Mr. Bogue in the days he stuttered so badly was Hon. Hervey D. Vories, formerly Indiana Superintendent of Public Instruction. The cure was so marvelous that Mr. Vories suggested that the greatest life service Mr. Bogue could render was to help others afflicted as he had been.

It is the one delight of Mr. Bogue's life to tell stammerers and stutterers how they too can be cured. He is willing to help any one who has suffered the embarrassment and knows the handicaps of the stammerer. An announcement like this one is the only way he has of quickly reaching large numbers of those afflicted with stammering, and he has taken this method to reach stammerers everywhere.

Mr. Bogue requests that you send him no money—just enclose a stamp in your letter if you wish, for the letter he will write you. State in your letter, your age and how long you have been afflicted with speech troubles. If you do not stammer, you will be doing anyone a favor who has this awful affliction, if you will mail his or her name and address to Mr. Bogue. It costs you nothing and you will be under no obligations.

Mr. Bogue gladly writes promptly to anyone afflicted with stammering or stuttering and sends them full information as to how they can be quickly and permanently cured. Address Benj. N. Bogue, 1175 N. Illinois Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Weekly Financial Review.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Sept. 9.—Trading during the four full days of the week was attended by almost the largest dealings thus far this year, each session contributing from 1,000,000 to cover 1,300,000 shares. Prices were mainl ybut irregular upward, with new records for United States Steel, Inspiration copper, Mercantile Marines and Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies.

Rails were firm to strong, Reading leading at its best price of the year The outcome of the railway labor agitation was a deterrent factor, although this was partly counter balanced by further excellent July statements of earnings and the increasing tonnage movement at leading transportation centers.

Coppers were often at the forefront with highly favorable trade conditions, as represented by the firmer quotations for the refined metal and additional foreign demand. Munitions and equipments, including motors, were under moderate pressure, the noteworthy exception being Kelly-Springfield Tire which also attained to a new high record.

The ease with whic hthe latest British loan was financed and absorbed gave rise to reports of other undertakings of like character. Another Russian loan is believed to be in process of negotiation.

Decline of German exchange to the lowest quotation since the outbreak of the war, with a marked hardening of rates to the countries of the allies, notably Russia and Italy, reflected the course of military events abroad. British credits in this market were further strengthened by heavy gold imports mainly from Canada.

Weekly Grain and Provisions.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Wheat values have scored an extraordinary advance in the last week. Gains of nearly 14 cents a bushel were shown on some deliveries. The settlement of the threatened general railway strike was largely responsible and so too, were unexpected successes by the Bulgarians in Rumania.

Tuesday the effect of the annulment of railway embargoes was speedily made manifest in a big upward swing of prices. Export call for wheat was especially urgent, and the market continued to raise on Wednesday, although temporarily interfered with by unconfirmed rumors that the new German war loan was not proving a success.

Another setback in prices took place on Thursday owing to Greek troops having undertaken active measures in aid of the Anglo-French allies. This downturn in the market was partly offset later though by news of the surrender of 20,000 Rumanians defending one of the chief keys to the Rumanian capital.

Fresh Victories for Bulgaria which were reported yesterday made the prospect seem still more remote for the release of the huge supplies of wheat on hand in Russia and Rumania. Largely in consequence the day witnessed the season's highest prices for September and December options and nearly the highest for May. Correct anticipations of a bullish crop report from Washington were also of much effect in bringing about the final uplift of values.

Corn reached the highest September level of quotations in 24 years, 91 cents a bushel. Excessively bullish private crop reports not borne out by the government estimate last night were in some measure the basis of the rise. Oats, too, seemed to have been lifted partly by erroneous guesses regarding what the government report would include.

Provision prices hardened with grain, but late in the week were subjected to much selling pressure, the result of weakness in hog quotations and also in cottonseed oil.

Chicago Grain.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Wheat showed some weakness today, largely because of a bearish construction which many traders placed on the government crop report.

Opening prices which ranged from 1 1-8c lower to 1-4c advance were followed by moderate additional losses and then a fair rally.

Free offerings by holders weakened the corn market. The main incentive to sell was the fact that predictions had been excessively bullish as to the government crop estimate. After opening 1-8 to 1 3-4c lower, prices underwent a further sag.

In oats as in corn, the Washington crop report had a bearish influence. On the dip, however, leading houses were good buyers.

Provisions averaged lower, owing to lack of support.

Hogs promised to be a little more plentiful next week than at the corresponding time last year.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Sept. 9.—Reading and shipping shares led the list to higher levels at today's active opening, the former making the new high quotation for the year of 112¼, with gains of 1 1¼ points in marine common and preferred respectively, while Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies made a new record of 73½. Other rails moved forward with Reading, notably Union Pacific, Le Valley, Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio. Coppers and zinc issues were well represented in the movement and several paper stocks supplemented recent gains, likewise the Mexicans.

United States steel and Lackawana steel rose substantial fractions.

Today's broad and very active two-hour session was indicative of something more constructive than the customary week-end settlements of professional contracts.

Discouraging crop conditions, which caused some irregularity in yesterday's late trading were wholly ignored, except for moderate restraint in grangers. This was more than offset by decided strength in other important quarters. U. S. steel rose over three points to a new high record and shipping shares were again conspicuous with a new maximum for Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, while Reading made its highest quotation of the year at 112½.

Copper industrials of various descriptions and unclassified specialties registered two to five points gains at the buoyant close. Bonds were steady.

His Idea.

"Success in life is a relative term," said the philosopher.

"No doubt," replied the man of easy habits. "But when a person who has reached middle age still depends on an alarm clock to help him hold his job, I consider that his life is a failure." — Birmingham Age-Herald.

Columbus Asks Newark's Help to Kill Wyandot Bldg.

The Newark Chamber of Commerce has been asked by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce to co-operate in a movement to defeat the proposed purchase of the Wiandot office building in Columbus, for state offices.

The Columbus organization has filed a suit to restrain the State Auditor from issuing a warrant to pay the purchase price of $225,000, for the Wyandotte building, which the Ohio State Board of Public buildings had arranged to buy to provide additional office space for state departments.

The Columbus Chamber advocates an extension of the Capitol so that in years to come, it will be a sort of pride to Ohio citizens. Also that at the next legislature a bill opposing the purchase of the Wyandotte building will likely be introduced and the local Chamber's co-operation is desired to assist the bill.

Farm Course In Public Schools Reclaims Land

In an effort to reclaim land in Newark and Licking county, the pupils of the public schools will be taught agricultural and farming by an agricultural instructor, Superintendent Wilson Hawkins, of the Newark schools, told members of the Civic Bureau at their meeting last night in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Instead of allowing ground in the city and country to remain unworked, Mr. Hawkins said the children would be taught to make gardens and that ultimately prizes would be given for the best and would lead to a general movement on the part of every citizen in beautifying the city and promoting agricultural interest.

Mr. Hawkins' plan was heartily endorsed by the members of Joseph Pugh's committee and assistance was promised by the bureau. Newark is the first town outside of Cedar Rapids to take up this project.

The board of directors at their next regular meeting will be asked by the Civic Bureau to endorse the agricultural movement. This project and the establishing of a City Planning Commission were given considerable discussion at the meeting and and the bureau decided that the two propositions were the essential steps toward building the city.

The bureau organized and the above mentioned projects were taken up for action.

It was found that in order to promote a number of civic improvements now anticipated, the Planning Commission was necessary. This commission will be a separate body of men who will devote their time and energy to get the plan established. The commission is authorized under the state laws.

A campaign of education will be conducted along with the two movements to acquaint the people of Newark with the action necessary to beautify the town and how to accomplish the project.

The Lookout club, composed of nine hunters and fishermen of this city, will pitch their tents this evening along the Walhonding river in Knox county. The locality to which they are going abounds in wild game and the fishing is said to be excellent, many bass being taken that weigh from a pound to five pounds. Members of the club are Capt. Charles Reel, George Stream, Frank Taylor, Wm. Siegel, Harry Duncan, Bryce Stanch, Harry Forchier, Elmer Leedy and Jesse H. Wilson.

Revenue Stamps Not Required On Legal Documents

The repeal of the federal stamp tax, passed during the emergency war act of October, 1914, means that hereafter no stamps will be required on any legal documents, proprietary remedies or cosmetics.

No more will the "one cent for a stamp, please," be heard at telephone or telegraph companies. Neither will stamps be required for freight or express bills of lading.

The repeal of the act became effective at 9 o'clock this morning. It will be welcomed by all who have been incommoded by the use of tax stamps for the past two years.

The new revenue bill repeals schedules A and B which covered documentary and proprietary stamp taxes.

Obituary

Sidney Smith.
Sidney Smith, one of this county's best known residents, died this morning at 6 o'clock at his home in Madison township near the Children's Home. Mr. Smith had been ailing for some time and his death had been expected by the immediate memers of his family.

Mr. Smith was born January 6, 1839, near Albany, Franklin county, O. He was brought to Licking county by his parents when three months of age, so that he has practically been reared here. He purchased stock for thirty years and was known as one of the largest dealers in the state, buying in this and adjacent counties and being very successful. In 1870 he purchased a farm in Madison township, where he resided for many years.

On April 24, 1872, Mr. Smith was united in marriage to Miss Isabelle Pigg of Madison township. Her death occurred January 4, 1884.

Mr. Smith enlisted in the Seventy-sixth Ohio Volunteers at the outbreak of the civil war and participated in many important engagements. He was mustered out at Black River, Miss., after which he returned home and resumed his business interests. He was a member of Lemert Post G. A. R. He is survived by four sisters, Julia F., Sarah Jane, and Ella, who made their home with their brother, and Mrs. Harvey Lawyer of Newark township.

The funeral will take place Monday afternoon from the home in East Main street and interment will be made in Cedar Hill.

Death of Infant.
Walter Paul Markle, aged one month and eleven days, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Markle, died last evening at the latter's home, 96 Wing street, from infantile trouble. The funeral will take place Sunday, interment to be made at Smith's Chapel.

Death of Infant.
James Yaciri, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yaciri, died Friday night at the home of the parents, 107 Jackson street. Burial was made this afternoon in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

O. V. Shilling.
Orville V. Shilling, aged 47, deputy clerk in the municipal court and former deputy United States marshal, died yesterday at the home of his mother in Columbus. He was well known among Newark officials, having frequently visited Newark while serving as deputy U. S. marshal. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday.

SUBSTANTIAL IS GROWTH OF FAIRALL STORE

On the first day of March, one year and a half ago, in a dimly lighted corner in the rear of the C. E. Wyeth bicycle store in West Main street there was born a new business concern.

P. J. Fairall was its father.

A lone incandescent light above a roll top desk shed its rays upon a small sign bearing the slogan of the new business and heralding to the general public the foundation upon which P. J. Fairall expected to build his future.

"Quality First."

That little sign was Mr. Fairall's business shrine and he was ever on the alert to worship at its foot. On days when the infant concern, with its one piano, seemed destined to die, its owner would gaze long and earnestly at the little sign and grit his teeth

"This storm can be weathered," he would say to himself, "if I rely upon my slogan."

And so he fought for his shrine and the growth of the concern. New business appeared on the horizon. The public began to realize that in the Steinway, Kurtzmann, Packard, La Gona, Jesse French and the the Kohler & Campbell pianos, there was Quality. Also that the agent in this district, P. J. Fairall, put above everything else their "Quality First."

It was not long until the infant concern began crawling around the C. E. Wyeth store. More room was needed for its development. This was provided by Mr. Wyeth until the bicycle store could no longer accommodate two concerns.

So upon the first day of September, Father Fairall succeeded in securing a new location at No. 3 North Fourth street. The room was remodeled, a mezzanine added in the rear of the room and palms placed to give artistic effect.

And with the securing of the new location came the agency or sales-management of six counties for the Ideal Phonograph company, a Newark made product. The present room of the Fairall store is a beautiful home for the concern, little more than one year old, and a program is now being arranged for celebrating the location in the new quarters.

Mr. Fairall announced today that all next week would be grand opening week and every afternoon and evening the general public is invited to attend a concert of the Ideal Phonographs

Mr. Fairall came to Newark in 1899, and for six years was employed as foreman for the American Bottle company. Later he was identified as sales manager in this city, for one of the leading musical houses in Central Ohio And it was while following this line of work that he gained his thorough knowledge of the music business.

Persistency and a sincere faith in the little sign "Quality First" have been the means of building for Mr. Fairall in 18 months from a one piano concern, a business that promises to be a leader in its particular line.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

All this week the office, gym and dining room have resembled a very large pansy bed, with bright, happy faces peeping forth It is hoped the whole year may be as this week has been, happy and full of work.

The Y. W. C. A. is going to have a bargain sale at the house The association wants you to come and see what is offered For the next two months the association will reduce the price for tennis—that is, if the ticket is purchased now you may play tennis for the next two months for a very small amount.

During the past week the association has added to the list of Newark business college students another young lady Miss Letha Almack of Nelly, Ohio This brings the number up to four, the largest number of business college students the association has had at any one time

Miss Childs and Miss Henrietta Logan, who have been the guests of Mrs Fred Evans, left today for Wooster, O., where they will embark in business for themselves They expect to start a tea-room and have invited all old friends from Newark to call and see them

Tuesday last Miss Allis, Miss Childs and Miss Logan spent the day in Zanesville visiting the potteries and buying ware for the new tea-room.

Thursday evening Mrs J B Jones entertained with a getting-acquainted party for the Y. W. C. A staff The party, consisting of the two new secretaries, Misses Allis and Elliott, Miss Childs and Miss Logan took supper at the Ideal Exchange and afterwards went to Mrs Jones' home where a most enjoyable and profitable evening was spent

Reports show that Miss Laura Jones is getting along nicely after her accident of a week ago last Tuesday. Several calls have been made and Miss Jones was reported as being cheerful and happy in spite of her pain

STRUCK BY TRAIN LABORER MAY BE FATALLY INJURED

L. Armstrong, 30, Zanesville negro, was found by the crew of a B. & O. passenger train at Somerset late Friday afternoon. His skull was fractured and he had internal injuries.

He was brought to Newark on the train and taken in Bradley's ambulance to the Sanitarium, where this morning he was reported still unconscious. Physicians say he will die.

Armstrong was employed as a laborer for the Ayers Mineral Co., at the Chalfant's stone quarry. He is unmarried.

It is not known whether he was struck by a train or whether he fell on the track. When brought to this city he still was unidentified, save from an envelope in a pocket which bore the name of L. Armstrong, Zanesville. Inquiries at Zanesville resulted in a positive identification.

NEWARK'S MODERN HOSPITAL AND NURSE SCHOOL

The Newark City Hospital and the School for Nurses connected with it, are institutions of which the citizens of Newark should be proud, and by their co-operation lend every financial and moral aid to the development of their usefulness. The functions of the hospital are of such a nature that it cannot be self-sustaining as are private institutions, and those who are able should lend financial assistance. Of course donations of equipment or supplies are gladly received, but oftentimes these are not exactly what are needed, and a ten-dollar bill can be used more judiciously for the purchase of needful things than the same value in donations can be used if they are not thus selected with knowledge.

The Newark Hospital now is conducted upon broad lines under the direction of Miss Evalyn F. Bietsch, the new superintendent, who took charge October 1, 1915.

Miss Bietsch's education and training has well fitted her for the responsible position which she holds. She was graduated from the Episcopal Hospital's Training School for Nurses, at Philadelphia, Pa., and afterward was assistant to the directress of the Germantown, Pa., hospital for 6 1-2 years. She then entered Columbia University where she earned a degree of Bachelor of Science, and received a diploma as Administrator of Schools of Nurses.

In very large institutions there are two positions which are filled by separate incumbents, a superintendent who takes charge of the financial business of the institution, and a directress who has charge of the training school for nurses.

At the Newark institution Miss Beitsch combines very capably the duties of both these positions and the nurses' school will be brought up to the requirements of the State Medical Board by a strict adherence to every provision prescribed by this board, so that when a young woman is graduated, she will be eligible to registration in the state of Ohio. Last May 25 there were four graduated from the Newark school, and there now are 12 pupils in the school, taking a three-year course.

This course is prescribed by the state and is preceded by a three months' probation period for which credit is given upon the course if the applicant meets the requirements. To enter this probation a young woman must be of good moral character, have at least one year high school work, and physical fitness. At the end of the three months if she meets all of these standards she is accepted as a pupil in the school.

As to the hospital proper its operation now is being carried on with a view of bringing it up to the highest standard of efficiency, and with a regard for every requirement of the state, one of which prescribes that in every hospital recognized by the State Medical Board must have at least one-fourth, and not more than one-half the number of nurses as the daily average of patients.

The present hospital is one of the greatest possibilities but needs more resources. The building itself is absolutely fire proof. Walls, and floors are concrete, and stairways are separated, so that they can be shut off from the corridors upon which patients' rooms open.

Every detail of efficiency is carried out. The large operating room, the room for minor operations, the sterilizing department, surgeons' dressing rooms, are models of convenience and equipment for this kind of hospital work.

Sun parlors are available for patients at the north and south sides of the building, the wards are immaculate in their cleanliness, and every thing is made conducive to a patient's comfort.

In the maternity ward and nursery there are all things needed to give the mother and child proper care, and they are under graduate supervision.

During the day each of the three floors has a graduate nurse in charge, and at night also there is graduate supervision.

The Newark Hospital has 51 beds, and last year averaged 11 operations per week and had a daily average of 25 patients.

There were many of these charity patients, or those who paid only a small amount, and for this reason as well as from the nature of hospital work, the institution needs financial support.

All kinds of accident or emergency cases are taken in and in many cases not a cent is realized from the patient's care.

The nurses' training school is being brought up to state requirements, will turn out graduates who will be a benefit to the community by being able to give better service.

There is nothing that develops a young woman along broad lines and fits her to become a wife and mother, more than a three years' course in such a school. The course at the Newark school is a liberal education, and not a waste of time even if the graduate does not take up nursing for a livelihood.
